Brethren,

As March winds blow in Spring, hopefully bringing us warmer weather, we start our Districts meetings. Questions are being asked, and we need to keep in mind.

First, if you do not plan to attend your District meeting, this is a time to read the Constitution and change your mind. The Constitution states in Article 12, Section 3., "When a District meeting or Educational Conference falls on the same day as the stated communication of a subordinate Lodge attendance, the Master and three of the remaining elected Officers, as named in (Article 11, Section A 3., shall be considered in lieu of the Stated communications of that Lodge for that date". It seems to be a misunderstanding that you do not have to attend the District meetings or Educational Conference, but the constitution requires all Lodges to attend these meetings.) Keep in mind the Grand Lodge website, District's websites, and your Masonic Home Journal, are places where you can find the dates and time of each District meeting.

Brothers, I wish I could make each Lodge understand how important it is to read the Constitution. This is especially true in our Lodge meetings so each member can stay abreast with the Constitution. A section of the Constitution can be read then discussed how it affects your lodge and business.

By the time this Article comes out in the Home Journal, we will be well into our District meetings. Please, make sure to have your Lodge ready to make the District meetings. I have never been to a District meeting that was boring or felt like I wasted my time attending. We have fun in our District meetings, and the knowledge that is passed from Brother to Brother, can be shared in your Lodges.

Brothers, as I continue to travel across our great state sitting in Lodges with my Brethren, it is with great pride that I see EA, FC, and Master Mason degrees going on. I couldn't be happier Brothers.

Each and everyone of us had to make a change in our life due to the COVID. This time last year was a tuff time for everyone and our Lodges. We had no ideal of the transformation our world would have to endure. Praying and Thanking God, we are getting back to a normal way of life.

I feel we are in a new era in our Fraternity. We have a great opportunity to get our Masonic Order moving with leaps and bounds. Just keep doing the things you have been doing keeping your Lodges and yourself safe Brothers. As the days are getting warmer our Outdoor meetings and activities are getting closer. I look forward to the excitement and fun when a group of Brothers getting together whether its visiting as many Lodges as you can, District meetings or Outdoor meeting, etc.... For the Love of a Brother is great.

Brothers, as always keep on the level.
We are Not Above Nor Below but on the Level

Fraternally Thine,

Cornerstone Laying Ceremony at Estill County Area Technology Center

It was a cloudy and overcast day as many gathered at the Estill County Area Technology Center to continue a long-standing tradition. The Cornerstone laying ceremony has been a tradition among Freemasons since Brother Benjamin Franklin set the cornerstone on the Philadelphia State house in 1732, later to be known as Independence Hall. Brother George Washington, set the cornerstone on our great Nations Capital building in 1793, while serving as the first President of the United States. Though we do things slightly different today than our founding fathers, we still carry on this timeless tradition.

Most Worshipful Grand Master, Ernest C. Jackson, of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky F. & A. M. presided over the ceremony and carried out the Masonic ritual, Right Reverend Grand Chaplain, Mark Upchurch, lead the group in prayer with Right Worshipful Deputy Grand Master, James Gibson, checking the stone to be square. Right Worshipful Grand Senior Warden, Darren Wilson, checking the stone to be level, and Right Worshipful Grand Junior Warden, Richard Ferrell Dick Short, who checked the stone to be plumb. The craftsmen had performed their jobs and done them well. Worshipful Grand Marshall, Mitchell May, introduced Superintendent of Estill County Schools, Jeff Saylor, and made the proclamations.

The stone, working tools and a certificate were presented to Superintendent Saylor. Senator Brandon J. Storm was also in attendance representing the twenty-first district of Estill, Bath, Jackson, Laurel, Menifee and Powell counties. All in all, the rain held off and we had a wonderful turn out for this event.

Special thanks Brother Greg Horn for laying the groundwork over the last year to make this possible, and to everyone else who was involved in the process that I have not mentioned. Thank you to all that came out in support for the new technology center. The Center will surely be a light in so many people's lives for generations to come.

Valley of Madisonville

Brethren,

Is your lodge prepared to fight to stay alive, or is there fighting within your lodge? As some lodges within our Commonwealth have consolidated, I wanted to explore this subject. There are some lodges that seem to be "making it happen" while others barely have enough members present to open. Some lodges can no longer afford to keep their doors open while others seem to prosper.

As the Personal Representative to the Valley of Madisonville, I understand your plight. We have the smallest membership of the Consistories in Kentucky, yet we cover the largest part of the state. When I'm asked what my plan is to save our Consistory my answer is very simple: "Get back to the basics." If you think about it this is true for everything in life. If you are going to have a great marriage you have to "get back to the basics" (love, honor and cherish to name a few.) If you don't come home at night, and you disrespect your wife, maybe call her ugly names, it won't be long before your relationship is in serious trouble. Likewise, we must work on our relationships within our fraternity.

King Solomon wrote in the book of Proverbs 10:22-25 NIV:

The blessing of the Lord brings wealth, without painful toil for it.

A fool finds pleasure in wicked schemes, but a person of understanding delights in wisdom.

*What the wicked dread will overtake them;
what the righteous desire will be granted.*

When the storm has swept by, the wicked are gone, but the righteous stand firm forever.

King Solomon's wisdom is just as true today as when it was originally written. It's not always easy to walk away from a fight between fraternity brothers, especially when you know you are right, or you have been wronged, but that is the type of character masonry teaches. MWPGM Tim Sanders said throughout his year to "love one another; take care of our widows and orphans, and be the men we professed to be when you knelt at that altar." On every altar in every constituent lodge within the boundaries of the Grand Lodge of KY F.&A.M., there is a Holy Bible. If we will get "back to the basics," we can rebuild our fraternity. I am fully committed to helping our lodges become stronger and grow. I am looking forward to seeing you at the District Meetings.

Fraternally Submitted,
Douglas W. Bunch,
Personal Representative,
Valley of Madisonville

* Note: The Spring/Summer Reunions will be a modified "expanded class" beginning on March 6 with the 4° - 14° and continue through June 12 ending with the 30° - 32°.

MASONIC LIBRARY AND MUSEUM ASSOCIATION COVINGTON SCOTTISH RITE

“I Didn’t Know That.....”

The Southern California Research Lodge had asked for input from Kentucky Masons on their suggestions on the 10 most important Masonic books from the 21st Century. It was fortunate for me to be included in the Kentucky Group and submit five titles, with “Exploring Early Grand Lodge Freemasonry: Studies in Honor of the Tricentennial of the Establishment of the Grand Lodge of England” being my personal favorite. The second and third ‘most important’ books on my list included: “Observing the Craft: The Pursuit of Excellence in Masonic Labour and Observance” authored by Andrew Hammer, and “Sins of Our Masonic Fathers: The Lost Strength of Fewness in American Masonry”, by Lexington, Kentucky author John Bizzack. Although there are many masonic books that will be considered by others as ‘most important’, below is a review of my first selection:

When an anniversary of a special event occurs, it almost always requires a new look of that noteworthy happening with a correlation of newer information concerning the event and the thoughts of the men who participated then and in the following years. And so it is, in this collection of scholarly presentations: “Exploring Early Grand Lodge Freemasonry: Studies in Honor of the Tricentennial of the Establishment of the Grand Lodge of England” – Christopher B. Murphy, Editor – Shawn Eyer, Executive Editor.

As a fresh review of previously researched material, this book presents a clear and concise understanding of the thoughts of the men who lived it; concerning such things as religion and science, the true secrets of Freemasonry, what actually happened within the lodges, and what the Masons of that era truthfully thought and felt about their lodges and themselves as Freemasons. This study enables the reader to grasp “the cultural realities of Masonic life and thought” in the early years of the first Grand Lodge.

Editor Christopher M. Murphy, who lectured at the 10th Anniversary of the ‘MRF Symposium’ held in Kentucky in 2019, offers the “Introduction” to the book. Murphy also presents two brilliant articles: “A Just and Exact Account of Freemasonry - A Survey of the Constitutions and Pocket Companions of 1723 to 1756”; also “Assessing Authentic Lodge Culture: Moving Beyond the Tavern Myth”.

The 98 page “Just and Exact Account” article examines James Anderson’s Constitution, with eight other early works presented within a period of 40 years, all of which were Grand Lodge publications, and puts forth the practices and the beliefs of early Grand Lodge Masonry; which enables the student to identify the essential themes presented, and in the words of H. L. Haywood, “think Masonry out for himself”. Christopher Murphy also suggests that the mythical history of Freemasonry was for years important enough to be presented to each new brother at his initiation. So, should it be reviewed with the same importance, by the masonic student.

In his second presentation, “Assessing Authentic Lodge Culture”, author Murphy states the fact that early Lodges then meeting in taverns, has given rise to the notion that Lodge meetings consisted eat, drink and sing a few songs. The mysteries were only what stonemasons practiced, and “the only secret is there is no secret”. Masons then should of course, keep the only secrets, the grips and words, private. Murphy unequivocally rejects this notion, and through thorough research, presents a convincing case for a far more spiritual society, one that will “unfold the Mysteries of Godliness” to those who search its truth. Perhaps this is the most important lecture in the series.

The “Forward” of the book is offered the renowned Masonic scholar and Executive Editor of the book Shawn Eyer, who adds his article, “The Essential Secrets of Masonry – Insight from an American Masonic Oration of 1734. This “Dissertation upon Freemasonry” is remarkable for several reasons. It is the first known American Lodge oration and the third oldest surviving masonic oration in the world. Eyer states the oration was not intended to be published, but was intended for lodge presentation only. It deals with the Master Mason degree, proving that the third degree was available soon after Masonry arrived in the colonies. It suggests that “the harmony of the tiled lodge reflects the harmony of heaven”, and adds that hidden knowledge was available through Masonry, to those who wished to pursue it. This thought pattern is found among several other early Masonic sources.

“Genius of Masonry – The Preservation of Masonic Tradition in the Songs of Freemasons” by Nathan A. St. Pierre; offers a look at music, one of the seven liberal sciences, that is today often disregarded. While there are some American Lodges who are currently reviving the singing of the songs that appeared in Anderson’s Constitution, and elsewhere, music is mostly ignored by the majority of American Lodges. However, these songs reflect the culture and how Masons felt about their Masonry. More Masonic related studies should be done on this subject. St. Pierre states that music is not so much listening to a famous singer, but should be sang or played for the joy it provides to oneself. It offers additional comradery when singing or playing an instrument, as a group.

“John Desaguliers – The Balance of Religion and Science” by researcher Jedediah French is an interesting look at the third Grand Master John Desaguliers and his obsession in promoting the Newtonian philosophy in early Masonry. Desaguliers was a close associate with Isaac Newton through the Royal Society. Much research by Brother French brings forth new information on Desaguliers, who guided the Grand Lodge in the early years.

Other presentations included in “Exploring Early Grand Lodge Freemasonry” include two very popular authors: Ric Berman on “Freemasonry, the London Irish, and the Antients Grand Lodge” and “The Grand Lodge of All England Held at York – An Independent Grand Lodge in England in the Eighteenth Century” by David Harrison. “Spiritual and Heavenly People in the Corners: Embracing Masonic Ethos through the Eyes of James Anderson”, by Dana Scofield, rounds out the series of presentations.

Each of these articles displays considerable reference to Rev. James Anderson’s “Traditional History of Freemasonry” which is also included in the book.

Reading the complete series of the above research papers, has given me a far more favorable opinion of James Anderson than previously and definitely a better understanding of early Grand Lodge Freemasonry and the culture behind it. If one thinks that Freemasonry in its Grand Lodge beginnings was shallow, and its secrets minimal, then he who reads “Exploring Early Grand Lodge Freemasonry” will have a broader understanding of the complexity of Freemasonry in its early Grand Lodge years. This is certainly one of the most important books on the subject of the early Grand Lodge, and was written by new masonic researchers and well known masonic scholars alike. If you want to know what early eighteenth century Freemasonry really was and what it truly meant to Freemasons, “Exploring Early Grand Lodge Freemasonry” is a must read. It was certainly will be studied by masonic students for years to come. I highly recommend it. ... What do you think?
