GRAND MASTER'S MESSAGE

MITCHELL A. MAY

Grand Master 2024-2025

My Brothers,

From the moment I stepped onto the yellow footprints at Marine Corps Recruit Depot Parris Island, a profound ethos was instilled in me by the Drill Instructors, support personnel, and fellow recruits. This ethos, known as Esprit de Corps, is the heartbeat of every Marine. It embodies a shared sense of loyalty, pride, and commitment to the nation's most elite fighting force—warriors of unparalleled discipline and honor.

Journalist Robert Sherrod, a columnist for TIME and LIFE magazines during the Second World War, embedded himself with Marines throughout the Pacific Theatre. Present at pivotal battles such as Tarawa, Saipan, Iwo Jima, and Okinawa, he witnessed firsthand the unbreakable spirit of the Marines. Reflecting on the ferocity of the Battle of Tarawa Atoll, he wrote: "The Marines fought almost solely on esprit de corps, [of that] I was certain. It was inconceivable to most Marines that they should let another Marine down, or that they could be responsible for dimming the bright reputation of their Corps. The Marines simply assumed that they were the world's best fighting men."

U.S. Marines advance on Japanese pill boxes on Tarawa Atoll in November 1943.

Decades before these historic battles, in a small coal-mining town in eastern Kentucky, a similar spirit of unity and pride bound a community together. The Portsmouth By-Product Coke Company, which owned the Freeburn mining operation and the surrounding town, published a monthly magazine, The Freeburner, which fostered the literary and communal interests of its employees and residents. Prominently featured in each issue, as well as displayed throughout the community, was The Freeburn Creed:

"I believe in Freeburn—its splendid traditions—its present greatness as a mining community—its magnificent prospects for the future. I believe in the Portsmouth By-Products Coke Company—its high ideals in matters of relations between the employer and the employed—its earnest and just consideration for the happiness and welfare of its workmen—the policy of its officials to deal foursquare with everyone. I believe in the people of Freeburn as among the best created. I therefore believe it is my duty to my town, to love it, to support it, to respect it, to boost it, and to defend it."

Just as the Marines in the Pacific endured relentless combat, coal miners in the 1920s faced peril daily in the depths of the earth. Without modern safety technology, they toiled in conditions that often led to fatal disasters and lifelong illness. Yet, neither the Marines nor the miners wavered in their resolve. To this day, if you greet a Marine with "Semper Paratus" or "Oorah," you will receive a resounding "OORAH!" in return. Likewise, coal miners, even those suffering from black lung or COPD, speak with unwavering pride about their labor and the bonds they forged underground.

As Freemasons, we too must uphold our commitment to our Craft, despite any challenges we face. Let us adapt the words of The Freeburn Creed into The Mason's Creed:

"I believe in Freemasonry—its splendid traditions—its present greatness as a fraternity—its magnificent prospects for the future. I believe in [YOUR LODGE]—its high ideals in matters of relations between Brothers—its earnest and just consideration for the happiness and welfare of its members—the policy of its officers to deal foursquare with everyone. I believe in the Freemasons of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky as among the best created. I therefore believe it is my duty to my lodge, to love it, to support it, to respect it, to boost it, and to defend it."

Brothers, while we must acknowledge the challenges we face, we must also press forward with loyalty, pride, and positivity. Remain committed to the tenets and teachings of our fraternity, and shine brightly the light of Freemasonry wherever you tread. The road ahead may be long, and the challenges may prove difficult, but with time, patience, and perseverance, we shall accomplish all things!

Fraternal thine,

Mitchell A. May, Grand Master

GRAND HISTORIAN'S NOTES

Brothers,

I hope this article finds you well. For the month of August I am going to share an article that I read recently about Most Worshipful Brother Benjamin Taylor Kavanaugh. Brother Kavanaugh served as the first Grand Master of Wisconsin and was instrumental in the East Texas Oil Boom. The article was prepared by Worshipful Brother David Paul, Past Master of Buford-Landmark Lodge No. 41 and member of the Committee on Masonic Scholars. I hope you find this article both informative and enjoyable!

Benjamin Taylor Kavanaugh was born on April 28, 1805, in Jefferson County, Kentucky. After his father's death, his family moved to Cynthiana, Kentucky. In 1815, he began as an apprentice in the bookbinder's trade with the Reverend John Lyle, who was a Presbyterian preacher and educator in Bourbon County. In 1817, he committed to a seven-year apprenticeship with Stephen P. Norton, a book binder in Lexington, Kentucky. However, in 1823, he bought out the remainder of his time and relocated to Louisville where he began working in the tobacco trade. In 1829 he was commissioned as a Methodist preacher and began pastoring churches in Central Kentucky.

In 1839, Reverend Kavanaugh transferred to the newly organized Rock River Conference and was appointed Superintendent of the Indian Mission District near present day Minneapolis. Reverend Kavanaugh returned to Kentucky and petitioned Winchester Lodge No. 20 and was raised to the Sublime Degree of a Master Mason in 1841.

In 1842, Reverend Kavanaugh transferred to the Platteville District in the Wisconsin Territory. The Wisconsin Territory had been created by Congress in 1836 from land in the Territory of Michigan.

In October 1842, the Grand Lodge of Missouri issued a charter to form the first Masonic Lodge in the Territory of Wisconsin at Mineral Point which became Lodge No. 49. Due to the distance required to travel for Lodge, Brother Kavanaugh and nine other Masons decided to form a new Lodge in Platteville. In October 1843, Melody Lodge No. 65 was chartered, and Brother Kavanaugh was the first Worshipful Master. It did not take long for discussion to begin on forming the Grand Lodge in Wisconsin. On December 18, 1843, seven Masons representing the three Lodges held the first communication of the new Grand Lodge. Benjamin Kavanaugh who was not feeling well and remained at in his hotel room was nominated and subsequently elected the first Grand Master for the Grand Lodge of Wisconsin. (A great lesson on the importance of regularly attending Lodge. If you miss a meeting, you might discover you're a committee chairman or now the Worshipful Master!)

In 1846, Benjamin Kavanaugh changed professions and studied medicine at the Rush Medical College in Chicago before settling in St. Louis, Missouri to practice medicine. He became a professor of obstetrics and gynecology in the Medical Department of the University of the State Missouri.

As the Civil War began, he joined the First Brigade, Missouri Volunteers, CSA, under Brigadier General M. E. Green. For the next two years he acted as Army Chaplain and then served from 1863-1865 as Missionary to the Army along with the collateral assignment as Surgeon in a field hospital. Early in 1865, Benjamin Kavanaugh transferred ecclesiastically to the Texas Conference and was stationed in Chappel Hill, Texas where he was a professor at Soule University. While riding the church circuit he began noticing pools of black liquid across the East Texas landscape. Brother Kavanaugh spent most of 1865-1866 exploring East Texas for petroleum (oil). In June 1866, Kavanaugh signed an agreement with Lynis T. Barrett (Freemason) on exploring sights to drill for oil. In October 1866, he incorporated the San Augustine Petroleum Company, and his activity fed the contemporary interest in potential oil discovery and prospecting in East Texas, which was a key part of four oil companies being established. As S.W. Geiser wrote in his article for the Field and Laboratory Magazine, "there is doubt that his (Kavanaugh's) activity and newspaper articles of the day were largely responsible for the contemporary interest in potential oil in East Texas."

In 1867, Brother Kavanaugh was appointed to the Houston Conference as a pastor in Houston. His Masonic travels led him to affiliate with Holland Lodge No. 1 in 1871. Brother Kavanaugh was appointed Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Texas in 1873 and was editor of The Masonic Mirror during the years of 1872-1873. After his wife passed away in 1880, he returned to Kentucky. In 1886, he expanded his pamphlet, Lectures on Astronomy, to a bestselling book, The Electric Theory of Astronomy. He passed away on July 3, 1888, and is buried in Mt. Sterling, Kentucky.

During his life, Brother Benjamin Kavanaugh was a trail blazer in multiple professions: Preacher, Grand Master, Medical Doctor, War Veteran, College Professor, Oil Man, and Author. He crammed multiple life works all in his time on Earth! He was a lifelong learner, teacher, and searcher of Knowledge!

Fraternally Thine,

RUDYARD KIPLING AND LODGE HOPE & PERSEVERANCE

Part III of III

By Enamul Karim

In Something of Myself Kipling recalled his association with Lodge Hope and Perseverance. "In '85 I was made a Freemason by dispensation being under age, because the Lodge hoped for a good Secretary. Here I met Muslims, Hindus, Sikhs, members of the Araya and Brahmo Samaj, and a Jew Tyler, who was priest and butcher to his little community in the city. So yet another world opened to me which I needed." What this 'another world' might have meant to Kipling becomes more evident if one reads his letter to the Times and reprinted in the Freemason on March 28, 1925. "I was Secretary for some years of Hope and Perseverance Lodge No. 782, Lahore, which included Brethren of at least four creeds. I was entered by a member of Brahmo Samaj, passed by a Mohammedan, and raised by an Englishman. Our Tyler was an Indian Jew.

We met, of course, on the level, and the only difference anyone would notice was that at our banquets some of the Brethren, who were debarred by caste rules from eating food not ceremonially prepared, sat over empty plates." Both the statements clearly suggest that Kipling's Mother Lodge was the meeting ground of Masons of diverse races, religions and cultures on the level of equality, brotherhood and friendship. It was an unique world of man's essential oneness that transcended social, religious and political distinctions and barriers. This vision is best reflected in Kipling's poem, The Mother-Lodge which is, of course, Lodge Hope and Perseverance.

Written in Vermont in 1894, the poet underlines the difference between the Masonic atmosphere of brotherhood and fellow-feeling and the outside world of formality and impersonality:

Outside — 'Sergeant! Sir! Salute! Salaam!

Inside — 'Brother, 'an' it doesn't do no 'arm',

We met upon the Level an' parted on the Square.

Not only Englishmen and Indians met 'upon the Level' but also Indians of different religious groups and Anglo-Indians of varied social status as well. Hence, Beazeley, Rundle and other Anglo-Indians sit down and smoke with Bola Nath, the Hindu, Din Muhammed, the Muslim and Amir Singh, the Sikh. With nostalgic yearning the poet desires to return to his Mother Lodge in India where Europeans and Asiatics could meet in a spirit of love and brotherhood without any distinction of class or colour, race or creed:

I wish that I might see them,

My Brethren black an' brown,

With the trichies smellin' pleasant

An' the hog-darn passin' down,

An' the old Khansamah snorin'

On the bottle-khana oor,

Like a Master in good standing

With my Mother-Lodge once more.

In fact, of the twenty-six members of Lodge Hope and Perseverance during Kipling's time, six at least were Indians. They were Sirdar Bikrama Singh, a Sikh, Mohammed Hayat Khan, a Muslim Assistant Commissioner, Babu Protul Chander Chatterjee. M.A. Pleader, a Bengali Hindu, Gopal Das, another Hindu, Dr. Brij Lal Ghose, Assistant Surgeon and also a Hindu, and E.C. Jussawalla, a Parsi merchant. It is likely that the Hindus might have belonged to Brahmo Samaj and Arya Samaj which were reformist movements within Hinduism. Both Sirdar Bikrama Singh and Dr. Brij

Kipling in his study at Naulakha, Vermont in 1895.

Lal Ghose were members of the Punjab Jubilee Committee set up for celebrating the Jubilee of Her Majesty the Queen in 1887. They were actively involved with the establishment of the Punjab Public Library at Lahore. Babu Protul Chander Chatterjee was a member of the Punjab University Senate, and along with Sirdar Bikrama Singh, had addressed the public meeting at Lahore on February 3, 1887 in regard to the celebration of the Jubilee. Some of the Indians had held high positions at Lodge Hope and Perseverance during the 1880's when, as Percival Spear points out, the "virtual exclusion of Indians from all high office (in British Administration in India) was increasingly resented." Dr. Ghose "is regularly shown in high office at meetings of the District Grand Lodge and its Committees" while Jussawalla had recorded the proceedings of the meeting held in the summer of 1887. Lt. Gen. Sir George Macmunn stated from his personal knowledge that the 'Europe Shop' of the Parsi Mason, Framjee Edulji, mentioned in The Mother-Lodge, really existed. C. Grey, Kipling's contemporary in the same Lodge, remarked that Lodge Hope and Perseverance was a "rich mine of humanity."

His association with Freemasonry was life long. During his eighteen months' stay at Allahabad where he was very busy in his dual capacity as Editor of Week's News and Sub-editor of the Pioneer, he found time to attend the Installation meeting of Lodge Independence with Philanthropy No. 391 on December 22, 1887. He joined this Lodge on April 17, 1888. It was the fourth largest Lodge under the District Grand Lodge of Bengal known for its 'mixed' membership of Indians and Englishmen, having a "substantial proportion of non-European members." Kipling had preferred to join this Lodge instead of Amity and Independence Lodge (also at Allahabad) which was composed mostly of Englishmen.

On his way to England via the Pacific in 1889, he saw a Masonic Lodge at Penang and his instant joy was recorded by himself in From Sea to Sea: "I ran away to the outskirts of the town, and saw a windowless house that carried the Square and Compass in gold and teak-wood above the door. I took heart at meeting these familiar things again, and knowing that where they were was good fellowship and much charity, in spite of all the secret societies in the world. Penang is to be congratulated on one of the prettiest little Lodges in the East."

Kipling's association with Freemasonry continued in Europe, though not so actively as it was in India. In London he was a member of the Authors' Lodge as well as The Motherland Lodge. An honorary member of Canongate Kilwinning Lodge No. 2 of Edinburgh, Kipling was the founder-member of two lodges connected with the War Graves Commission. He had named these as The Builders of the Silent Cities No. 4948 in England and No. 12 in France.

Throughout his life Rudyard Kipling had a deep, personal attachment to his Mother Lodge at Lahore, which best embodied the Masonic ideals of Brotherhood, Love and Charity between people of different races and religions. Being a profound humanist himself, the Masonic philosophy had a special, personal appeal to him. Though he included Masonic symbolism, analogy and cognate mysteries in many of his writings, nowhere does his Masonic vision of life so deeply permeate his creative imagination as in his last great work on India, Kim.

SARAH H. TERRY, HEROINE OF KENTUCKY OES

One of the most prominent figures in the early history of Kentucky, Order of the Eastern Star, was Sarah H. Terry, Kentucky's third Worthy Grand Matron and 30-year Secretary. Truly a pioneer, Sister Terry received the degrees in the "old style" lecture format. Later, she was initiated under the General Grand Chapter and Grand Chapter of Kentucky, and served Clarksville Chapter #12, as Worthy Matron.

She was elected Worthy Grand Matron of the Grand Chapter of Kentucky for 1906-1907, served as Grand Treasurer 1908-1911 and then as Grand Secretary in 1911 until her death, February 23, 1941. She was well known for her good character traits, leadership ability and dedication to the Eastern Star Order. In 1931, Sister Terry was appointed Right Worthy Grand Conductress pro-tem of the General Grand Chapter.

It was difficult in Kentucky for a Worthy Grand Matron in those early years. On occasions she traveled muddy roads, crossed rivers and even rode horseback to get to the various Chapters for official visitations or to set new Chapters to work. New Chapters were being organized at a rapid pace. Membership rose from the organization date of June 19, 1903, of nearly 950 members, by 10 times, as reported at the October 1912, Tenth Annual Session. Secretary Terry's good friend, Clara Henrich, who would preside over that meeting, would later become "Kentucky's own" Most Worthy Grand Matron of the General Grand Chapter.

The difficulties of the Grand Secretary must also have been overwhelming. Since 1911, Sister Terry housed and furnished the office of the Grand Secretary (including the storage of records, reports, correspondence and the supplies from defunct Chapters) in her home in Clarkson, Kentucky. In 1925, under the recommendation of the Finance Committee, the Grand Secretary's office moved to Louisville. The Finance Committee rented a 4-room office to hold the records, with one room serving as a reception room. Sister Terry stated, "Everybody welcome -Come in without knocking—and go out the same way."

Sarah H. Terry was a prolific writer and contributed a monthly Eastern Star article to Kentucky's "Masonic Home Journal." Several magazines published her articles and poems. She wrote at least two books of poetry; "My Alter of Dreams" and "Shining Through", both of which were well received. In 1925, her book "Brief History of the Order of the Eastern Star" was published. She wrote an entry "Life of Rob Morris" for a Masonic encyclopedia, and it later emerged in pamphlet form. It also appeared as a full-page article in The Park City News (Bowling Green, Kentucky) on Tuesday, October 13, 1931, under the heading, "Sarah Terry Tells About

*Sarah H. Terry, PWGM
Past Grand Secretary*

Famous Man: Life Story of Dr. Rob Morris Written by Clarkson Resident."

One of her more important works was the 1935 edition, "The Second Mile - Illustrations and Explanations for the Study Clubs of the Order of the Eastern Star" which entered numerous reprints. In 1995, the General Grand Chapter would offer another reprint and copywrite the material. "The Second Mile" along with "Brief History of the OES" and poetry book "Shining Through" are available in the Eastern Star section, at the Covington Masonic Library, as is a copy of the above-mentioned newspaper article.

Katie I. Thomas presided over the initial three sessions of the Grand Chapter of Kentucky. Clara Henrich and Josephine Harkins Browning, both Past Worthy Grand Matrons of Kentucky, went on to serve the General Grand Chapter as Most Worthy Grand Matrons. Their dedication and love for the Eastern Star made them Heroines of the Order. But there were others, possibly not so well remembered, who did much for the Order of the Eastern Star. Sarah H. Terry is just one.

Greetings My Brothers all,

Having concluded our Spring Reunion in honor of Illustrious Leslie Edward Black, 33°, we look forward to the fellowship and contributions of our newest members of the Valley of Louisville.

Five members of this Reunion Class obtained the 32nd Degree and became Masters of the Royal Secret on June 7, 2025. Their Class Photo is shown below. Please take the opportunity to congratulate these brethren, and let them tell you personally what their accomplishment meant to them in their Masonic journey.

Our Most Worshipful Grand Master, Mitchell May, is promoting unity among our Masonic bodies, and has led the way to the Scottish Rite once again joining with the York Rite to hold a Unity Festival. This unity festival is being held Friday and Saturday, August 25th & 26th, at the Louisville Scottish Rite Temple. This event will enable you to join either Masonic body or both at a reduced rate.

Often times, our schedules don't allow us to be able to join other appendant bodies of Freemasonry due to the number of days it takes to complete the initiation process. This Unity Festival will allow you to be a member of one or both Bodies by setting aside a day or two only.

Take advantage of this opportunity to increase your knowledge and enjoy the many aspects of Masonry that are available to you.

For more information and to petition for membership reach out to Randolph Starks of the Scottish Rite and Greg Raque of the York Rite.

Each Year, Bloomfield Masonic Lodge #57 donates bicycles to Bloomfield Elementary School for the students who have perfect attendance. This year, 7 elementary students and 1 kindergarten student received a brand-new bicycle for their hard-earned efforts. The improved attendance is noticeable, and teachers and administrators are happy to see it, and overall, thrive when it comes to their education. With the school year over, the students are looking forward to their new rides for the summer.
